

CENSORSHIP

NEVER SAY "NEVER"

No rationally thinking person believes we should never censor, so some big questions remain.

1. How should access to certain movies or book titles be managed for different age groups?
2. How should access to strong language, violence, sexuality, or mature themes within certain movies or books be filtered or managed?
3. Should different school districts have different local standards?
4. Should schools differing significantly in student population have different standards?
5. How do differences between movies and books affect censorship issues?
