

Emotion vs. Thought

There can be an important difference between how you feel about something and what you think about it.