

---

Being organized or disorganized is often more a feeling than a reality, and feelings come and go.

---