

RESEARCH

WHY IS IT IMPORTANT?

- Researchers create new knowledge.
- Researchers can exercise their creativity.
- Researchers can satisfy and even increase their curiosity.
- Researchers can broaden their knowledge and understanding of different subject areas.
- Researchers can increase or refine their career options.
- Researchers learn the importance of giving credit to different sources of information.
- Researchers learn to evaluate credibility of information and credibility of sources.
- Researchers learn and practice accurate documentation of information sources.
- Researchers learn patience and persistence.
- Researchers become independent thinkers.