

How can a season
symbolically
associated with death

produce such a
beautiful scene?